

Dr. Riza KADILAR

Dr. Kadilar is the Turkey country representative of Natixis Pramex International SA, an international business development advisory company, subsidiary of French investment banking group NATIXIS, where he had previously joined as Senior Country Manager in order to oversee and coordinate the Group's activities in Turkey.

Prior moving back to Istanbul, he had been managing a London based banking subsidiary of a leading Turkish group. Previously he held various managerial positions in another Turkish banking institution in corporate, investment and international banking, and concluding important projects like the establishment of a bank subsidiary in Amsterdam; and subsequently its representative office in Istanbul.

Dr. Kadilar is a PhD in Media Economics. After a BSc degree at METU in Industrial Engineering, he has obtained his MSc degree at Stanford University, and completed his MBA at HEC, Paris. He has also attended an executive management course in strategic bank management at INSEAD.

Besides his professional duties, he is the founder of Executive Management Excellence Center (eXec, Istanbul); a think tank providing executive coaching and training services to improve corporate governance practices by providing support to key corporate decision makers. He also teaches finance, management and international relations at various universities (including Boğaziçi University, Izmir University of Economics and Kadir Has University) as a visiting professor.

He is one the founders of English Speaking Union Turkey, Conservative Friends of Turkey (within the British Conservative Party), and also contributes to various international professional associations and NGOs as an active member. He had previously served as an advisory board member to the Roger Short Memorial Fund at Oxford University.

He is married to Pelin, and proud father of Kardelen...